The exciting DynamicPerception StageR motion blocks are now in stock at ElysiaVisuals.com. We are going to add this product to our online store in the next few days.

The StageR can be controlled with the DynamicPerception MX3 controller when you use the EZ Swap DC motors. It is also possible to control the StageR directly with our RamperPro advanced timelapse controller. The RamperPro is able to control one stepper motor axis (quad axis support will be available in October).

We currently have limited stock, so please contact us directly if you want to order your StageR setup today.
